

Transgender? Bi-gender? Pan-gender? Non-binary? What?

The world and school environments are rapidly changing. Students as young as five are coming out along the transgender spectrum. What do all of these changes mean for you as an educator, administrator or school support staff? This interactive, day-long training gives you the chance to learn new terminology, understand and implement best practices regarding sports, facilities, bathrooms, etc., respond to parent and student questions and concerns, and ensure that your school climate creates a safe and effective learning environment for all.

Featured speaker:

Robin P. McHaelen, MSW, is the founder and current executive director of True Colors, Inc., a nonprofit that works with other social service agencies, schools, organizations, and within communities to ensure that the needs of sexual and gender minority youth are both recognized and competently met. Robin has a national reputation as a thought leader in LGBT youth concerns, programs and interventions. She is the recipient of numerous awards including the 2014 Human Rights Campaign's Upstander Award for Leadership in LGBT youth issues, the 2011 UConn, Provost's Award for Excellence in Public Engagement; the 2008 National Education Association's Virginia Uribe Award for Creative Leadership in Human Rights and the 2008 Social Worker of the Year (National Association of Social Workers, CT Chapter). She is co-author of several books and articles on LGBT youth concerns.
